A UNITED FRANCE.

The Poincare Government was sustained in the Chamber of Deputies by a record vote of confidence in its Ruhr policy. Whatever outsiders may think about it, the occupation is apparently backed by the French people with something resembling the solidarity with which they met the German onslaught. It is France, not the French Government only, which says the damages have to be paid.

TAKING TIME TO CONSIDER.

Nothing has yet been given out as to when the Provincial Legislature will meet. That at least means that there is not likely to be an emergency call for the members to assemble in the next few days and rush through a bill to give effect to the verdict from the recent liquor plebiscite. Fault will hardly be found with that. In the ordinary course of things the house is due to meet next month or shortly after the New Year in regular session, and there is no occasion to hold another "indemnity" sitting in order to bring the new policy into force a few weeks earlier. The indifference of the elements which surround the popular majority is such that careful framing of the legislation will be necessary. In fact just what kind of sale system the clause really calls for is a matter of opinion; and an off-hand interpretation followed by short-order legislation would be as likely to give the public something they do not want as to meet the views of the majority voters.

DEADLOCK ON BRETHERNEMENT.

The majority members of the public school board are not disposed to fall in with the proposal of the city council that the board negotiate a downward revision of the salaries of teachers and school janitors in order to help curtail expenditures and reduce taxes. The position taken by the objectors is that there would be little saving time on the matter because next year's board might upset the calculations and reverse the present scale. That, of course, is possible, and is very likely what next year's board would do if the majority of its members held views on the tax question similar to those of the dominant group of the present year. A deadlock being in sight it may be the better way to thresh out the issue of reduced taxes at the municipal elections, and leave it to the incoming council and board to get up to details. If the council and board say they want their bills cut down next year, if the present bodies were proposing to raise salaries all around, at the expense of boosting next year's outlay and increasing the tax burden, that would be considered a rather high-handed proceeding for the eleventh hour. Perhaps the rule ought to work the other way also.

NO CAUSE FOR EXCITEMENT.

Mr. Meighen is enthusiastic over the benefits Canada is due to receive if the British electors allow their Government to tax them heavily if they buy certain kinds of commodities from foreigners and less heavily if they buy them from the Dominions. The ex-premier enthuses easily on matters of that kind. According to the despatches the chief national products advanced by Mr. Baldwin's proposals are first, tobacco, and second, fish. No doubt the exclusion of foreign commodities of these kinds from the British market would enlarge the demand for the Canadian brands, benefit the producers of them, and correspondingly help to promote the general welfare. But no conceivable amount of preference on these products can widely affect conditions in the Dominion. A preference on wheat and meat would be something to cheer for, but that is not proposed and not likely to be. The Baldwin tariff is framed for the benefit of British trade and industries, as the fiscal policy of Britain ought to be, and any benefit that comes to any overseas interest will be incidental to the attempt to find buyers abroad for goods made in Britain. Such benefits will be welcome, but it is not wise to form inflated expectations of either their magnitude or their certainty. A mole bill is not a mountain, and the preferential mole bill has not been built yet.

GETTING ACQUAINTED WITH THE WEST.

Western Canada has been getting a good deal of attention this year from members of the Dominion Government. Within the last month four Ministers have visited Edmonton, in the course of extensive trips through the prairie provinces and British Columbia. They have spoken at many points, not always upon political issues or to party gatherings, and always in a way to show real and practical concern for the country and a desire to promote its development. That these visitors have been welcome goes without saying. They would have been that in any case, but none the less because the West has conditions to be dealt with which are peculiarly its own and which are likely to be the better handled if studied on the ground by men who help to shape the course of the national policy. It is to be hoped that the precedent thus set will be held in future years, and that the western provinces may frequently have the privilege of entertaining and hearing members of the Federal administration—and incidentally of presenting to them at close range matters which require their attention. Edmonton is a long way from Ottawa, and Vancouver is farther still but Canada is a unit and every department in the national Government has to do with every part of it. A personal acquaintance with the country from ocean to ocean is not only desirable on the part of a Dominion Minister, but is almost indispensable to the discharge of his duties with complete understanding and to the best advantage.

These visits at this time are of more than local interest and importance. While Canada is making headway toward normal prosperity it has not yet recovered the steady, uniform and fairly rapid progress that it was making before the war. What policy is adopted at Ottawa will have a good deal to do with determining how rapid the recovery of that pace will be. The West is the half of Canada in which there is the greatest opportunity for constructive statemanship to open the way for private initiative and to give encouragement and opportunity to enterprise. The production of wealth can be increased here more quickly and with less difficulty than in the older provinces. Practically all that is required to stimulate larger effort on the prairies is that the farmer be kept free of handicaps, such as an unduly burdensome tariff and heavy transportation charges on the bulky products he has to sell in distant markets. Given those conditions, Western progress is automatic. Millions of people are looking for just such a country as Western Canada in the matter of soil and climate. With conditions as favorable as possible for successful farming there will be no doubt or difficulty about attracting settlers to our vacant lands. The trouble rather will be to exercise discrimination as to what classes and individuals are admitted, and to so regulate the inflow as to prevent temporary congestion.

The West cannot progress without causing the other parts of the Dominion to also benefit. Every additional settler on the plains means an added buyer for manufactured goods produced in eastern industrial centres, an extra taxpayer to help carry the burdens of the nation, and more of the traffic that is so badly needed by the National railway system. The solution of what has been called Canada's "problem," if there is such a thing, lies in the West. Given a national policy which will continue to grow in population, wealth and importance as it is now growing, just because Canada is a large country, and one of infinitely varied resources, the tariff and other matters of public policy cannot be framed with sole consideration to western conditions. But the more sympathetic treatment that can be given to the interests of western agriculture without unjustly harming other sections of the Dominion, the more quickly and the more largely will the West be able to contribute to the national welfare. Nothing can make for treatment of that kind more surely, or guarantee it to western people more satisfactorily, than that members of the Government should continue to make personal pilgrimages across the West, taking time to study western conditions, get the western viewpoint, and to secure the relationship of western progress to that of the Dominion.

EXIT THE MINDS.

Elimination of the necessity for binding and stocking grain, and cutting in half the entire cost of the grain and threshing, will be the greatest result of the successful operation of a combination of ideas now being worked out by Mr. H. H. Hauer, an Alberta farmer, on his farm near Killam.

It is not so far as Alberta is concerned, for the grain of an average bushel weighs in the world of seven, eight or nine bushels, and the most effective of anything yet operated in this province. This grain has been manufactured in Killam. He also has perfected a road grade and machine. Mr. Hauer has modified a push belt arrangement that says the grain is thrown 14 feet into air in the threshing operation is using a lower wheel on an elevator, that lifts the grain into the air, and the grain is blown into a very large capacity. His attention is now concentrated on the grain elevator and the machine that will lift the grain from the windrows and throw it into the air.

So confident is Mr. Hauer, minister of agriculture, that he is recommending that the government should build a large number of grain elevators in the place of grain facilities at his disposal and taking the grain from the farmer's hand and to make it possible for the farmer of the province to reap the full benefits of such a machine.

THE HOUR SAVER

The only way you can put hours into the savings bank is to turn them first into money or knowledge.

There is no bank that will take the hours.

If there was, we should have longer lives, and better ones. For we could draw out, at fifty or sixty, all the hours we had not used during the preceding years, and have a long time to be happy and prosperous.

There are so few hours allotted to us in proportion to the work we have to do, that there should be no such term as "waste hours."

For really we can spare none of them. Whether spent at work or at play each should bring in some experience that is worth remembering, or some pleasure that adds to the joy of living.

Yet, with full knowledge of how few hours there are in a day, how few days there are in a life, the most of us deliberately waste hours which, if well spent might make our fortunes.

Watch the people in the office, and you will observe that half of them waste an hour or more a day each watching the clock, or trying to postpone the beginning of a task.

Look at any holiday crowd, and you will see that most of them, in the hour before the hour, are in a hurry to get home, and are in a hurry to get home, and are in a hurry to get home.

LAPORTE HAS WARM PRAISE FOR THE WEST

Climate, Patriotism and Sports All Worth Attention from the East

QUEBEC, Nov. 16.—Hon. Ernest Laporte, minister of marine and fisheries, the federal government, in the course of an address delivered before the Knights of Columbus of Quebec yesterday, stated that Canadians generally did not know their own country, while referring to a trip that he had recently made to the west. In the far west, he said, he had found more than in the east.

It was a pity, he thought, that east and west could not become more acquainted in the determination of the destiny of a man, for sports and recreation were the basis of many problems that were solved.

The speaker then referred to sports in the west and said that sports were more generally popular than in the east. Sports, he considered, were a great factor in the determination of the destiny of a man, for sports and recreation were the basis of many problems that were solved.

One particularly the speaker noticed, and that was that sports were more generally popular than in the east. Sports, he considered, were a great factor in the determination of the destiny of a man, for sports and recreation were the basis of many problems that were solved.

THE EMPRESS

Regul to "Prisoner of Zenda"
Previously Shown at Same

Probably the most abused term used in connection with motion pictures is "re-run". Nine times out of ten it means "no play" but in the case of the forthcoming production of Rupert of Hentzau this is by no means the case. It is really the first production in which all of the principals are either stars or new features of leading men and women as a glance at the following names of the "cast" will prove. Elaine Hammerstein, Bert Arnott, Lew Cody, Claire Windsor, Bryant Washburn, Marie Lloyd, Michael Lewis, Robert Howarth, Josephine Crowell, Tine Landon, Irving Cummings, and Addison Mizeno.

Rupert of Hentzau is a sequel to "The Prisoner of Zenda" which was recently produced. It is a story of a fictitious European principality. The story is told with the same skill and drama as the first, and with the same splendid cast of actors and actresses. Rupert of Hentzau will be shown at the Empress theatre all next week.

GOING DOWN!

Wilson MacDonald, poet and reader, who will visit Edmonton next week, has received a warm reception wherever he has appeared and is left with the impression of unusual geniality. Speaking of his friends in Edmonton, he said:

Wilson MacDonald's name stands among the greatest in Canadian literature. Leading poets and critics of two continents praise his work in the most unqualified manner. A visit to his home in Scotland, the poet describes the poet and his very own.

Wilson MacDonald is beyond question a born poet. His poems are written with a clear, ringing melody which is a thing of beauty. His poems are written with a clear, ringing melody which is a thing of beauty.

Bulletin News Service

We have had an ideal autumn with but one interruption of rainy weather some weeks ago which lasted only two or three days. Sixty-five per cent of the harvesting is done.

Armistice and Thanksgiving Day was duly observed here on Sunday last. Services were held in the Loyalist Hall on Sunday evening conducted by Rev. (Captain) B. Halden, who gave an excellent address under the capable leadership of Mrs. Graham.

The farmers are bringing in their grain. The elevators are filled and another crop will be utilized.

We deeply regret to report the death of Miss Mary Hurd, aged 13 years. She was the only daughter of Mrs. O. Davidson and the wife of J. H. Hurd, and granddaughter of Mr. Hurd. She died of a heart ailment which was taken suddenly ill with appendicitis on Sunday. She died on 4th was taken to Red Deer hospital with a possible appeal. After the operation her condition was considered favorable and hopes were entertained for her speedy recovery.

Plans for the winter have been made and all efforts are being made on the morning of the day.

There was a social and prominent student of the Bashaw school, which was attended. She was engaged in the Sunday School and did for her work in the G.O.P. of which she was a member. Modest and kind, of a great character, she was beloved by her comrades and teachers who will ever bear her in loving memory. Though so young and life was so bright and promising, yet she had died quietly, as a whispered "Good-bye" and her soul entered that training in the heaven she loved.

To Become Wealthy

At Age 65—

Is an Ambition That is Cherished by Many.

You, perhaps, have the same ambition. At least, you want to be well-to-do later on, and able to enjoy comfort and independence.

What Are Your Chances?

Experience shows that of 100 average healthy men 25 years of age, the following will be true at 65:

- 1 only will be wealthy.
- 4 will be well-to-do.
- 5 will be compelled to go on working for a living.
- 36 will be dead.
- 54 will be dependent upon friends, relatives or charity.

Facing These Facts

Can you afford to go along without a definite plan of saving and investment, uncertain whether you will be well-off or an object of charity?

There need be no such uncertainty about your future if you adopt the safe and definite plan of setting aside a deposit regularly each year for a Canada Life "Endowment at 65."

It will guarantee you in cash at age 65 the sum of $2,000—$5,000—$10,000 or more.

It is a certainty—the full amount of your policy will be paid in any case, whether you live or die. Other investments may depreciate in value or fail. The will take care of your home, your business, or your personal interests, as nothing else can.

Endowment at 65

Substantial dividends are allotted at intervals.

If these be allowed to remain at your credit each year instead of being withdrawn, the face of the policy will be payable earlier than the date set.
